Family Visa Services in Abu Dhabi: Bringing Your Loved Ones Closer

Living and working in the UAE is a fulfilling experience, and for many expatriates, having their family with them makes it even more meaningful. The process of sponsoring your spouse, children, or parents to live with you requires following certain legal procedures. That's where family visa services in Abu Dhabi come in — helping residents manage all requirements smoothly and efficiently.

Understanding the Family Visa in Abu Dhabi

A family visa allows UAE residents to sponsor their immediate family members to live with them legally in the country. The visa can be issued for one, two, or three years depending on the sponsor's employment status, profession, and salary.

Abu Dhabi's family visa regulations are managed under the Federal Authority for Identity, Citizenship, Customs and Port Security (ICP) and the General Directorate of Residency and Foreigners Affairs (GDRFA). Having professional support ensures you meet all requirements accurately and avoid unnecessary delays.

Who Can Apply for a Family Visa in Abu Dhabi?

Residents holding a valid UAE residence visa can sponsor family members if they meet the eligibility criteria. Typically, the following individuals are eligible for sponsorship:

- Spouse (husband or wife)
- Children (usually under the age of 18; daughters can be sponsored until marriage)
- Parents (under specific conditions)

To qualify, the sponsor must have a minimum monthly salary as required by UAE authorities and suitable accommodation.

Documents Required for Family Visa Application

When applying for a family visa, it's essential to have all necessary documents ready. Common requirements include:

- Passport copies of family members
- Passport-size photographs
- Valid Emirates ID and residence visa of the sponsor
- Attested marriage certificate (for spouse)
- Birth certificates (for children)
- Tenancy contract or Ejari certificate

- Salary certificate or employment contract
- Latest utility bill (to verify residence)
- Medical fitness test results (for adults)

All documents issued outside the UAE must be attested by the relevant authorities and the UAE Embassy in the home country.

Step-by-Step Process for Obtaining a Family Visa in Abu Dhabi

The family visa process involves multiple stages and coordination with several departments. Professional family visa services in Abu Dhabi simplify this entire procedure for you. Here's an overview of the standard process:

1. Entry Permit Application

The sponsor applies for an entry permit (also called a residence entry visa) for each family member before arrival.

2. Medical Examination

Once family members arrive in the UAE, adults must undergo a medical fitness test at an approved medical center.

3. Emirates ID Registration

After the medical test, biometric data and Emirates ID applications are submitted.

4. Visa Stamping

The residence visa is then stamped in the passport after completing all approvals and medical checks.

5. Family Health Insurance

In Abu Dhabi, health insurance is mandatory for residents and their dependents. It must be obtained before visa stamping.
